

Nature Senses Journal

The boxes below represent your five senses. As you explore nature, write about or draw pictures of the interesting things you notice and how they spark your senses. One item can be in more than one box, for example, you might notice a flower. You can record the way it looks, how it smells, and the feeling of it in three different boxes.

